

Leadership Ethics

Faculty Success Leadership Series

November 18, 2020 | 3:30 - 5:00 p.m.

This is a virtual event. Register online for access.

This interactive webinar will engage metacognitive capacity building practices to explore the intersection of ethical behavior and leadership effectiveness. Regardless of how ethical we believe ourselves to be, there is always room for improvement in how we incorporate ethics into our leadership practices. Using real world case studies and critical self-reflection strategies, participants will explore the theoretical core of ethical leadership and apply it to their own institutional contexts.

Facilitator:

• Ben Brooks,
Assistant Professor of Interdisciplinary Studies

Ben Brooks is an Assistant Professor of Interdisciplinary Studies teaching in the Leadership Studies program and co-coordinator of the Integrative Studies program at Kennesaw State University. He previously worked as Senior Class Adviser at NYU's Gallatin School of Individualized Study, as a Teaching Assistant Professor for Multidisciplinary Studies and Leadership Studies at West Virginia University, and was a Fulbright Scholar in Hungary. Dr. Brooks's scholarly interests include metacognition, ethical instruction, critical pedagogy, and higher education program and curriculum design with specific areas of focus in Interdisciplinary Studies and Leadership Studies. His scholarly work has appeared in the Journal of Leadership Studies, New Directions for Student Leadership, and Issues in Interdisciplinary Studies. Communications can be directed to bbrook77@kennesaw.edu.

Register at facultydevelopment.kennesaw.edu/cetl_events.php

facultysuccess@kennesaw.edu

